The Irish Literary Revival was an early 20th century movement in Ireland aimed at reviving ancient Irish folklore, legends and traditions into new works of literature. The movement was closely related to the nationalist politics of the time and much of the literature it produced was concerned with rediscovering Ireland's literary past in a way that supported the struggle for Irish independence. The revival produced some of the best plays of the 20th century in the dramas of J. M. Synge and ...
