Starting a gardening business will require specialist tools and transport - it's not a case of using what's in your garden shed. You might need a lawn mower, strimmer, wheelbarrow as well as safety equipment such as goggles and gloves. Your services might also require the use of larger machinery such as cement mixers, angle grinders and chainsaws.

If you're considering starting a business and love the outdoors, you can make a good living as a home-based gardener. You may want to consider this career if you have a green thumb and enjoy working with plants and flowers. Gardeners perform many tasks, including watering, trimming, raking, digging, planting, hoeing and leaf-blowing, to keep their customers' homes and yards looking beautiful.
